

An exciting afternoon

Read the text.

Megan and Kevin are telling their Grandma Harriet about their visit to the zoo.

Harriet: Hello you two, how was your day at the zoo?

Kevin: It was fantastic, Grandma! London Zoo is really big.

Megan: We saw lots of different animals. It was really great!

Harriet: Amazing, what animals did you see?

Kevin: I saw some tigers. After the tigers there were the wolves, angry grey wolves. All of them were walking around in their cages. They stared at me. It was scary.

Megan: And I liked watching the monkeys and the gorillas. The monkeys were very fast and very clever. I watched them climbing the trees and eating bananas. But it was very loud and very smelly.

Harriet: What else did you see?

Kevin: I saw some sea lions at their feeding time. That was a lot of fun, the zookeeper put the fish in his hand and the sea lions jumped out of the water and took the fish from him. I wanted to feed them too, but mum said: "Don't feed the animals and don't try to touch them, that's dangerous."

Harriet: Your mum is right, Kevin. – How about you Megan? Did you see any other animals?

Megan: Yes, I did. I went to the reptile house where I saw some snakes; one was a really big python. There were also some very ugly looking crocodiles. They looked really hungry so I decided to go to the children's zoo.

Harriet: Oh lovely, my dear, what did you see there?

Megan: I saw some cute rabbits and guinea pigs, some sheep, two goats and a pony. And the pony ate some hay from my hand. That was great fun! Grandma, will you come along with us next time?

Harriet: That would be wonderful. What about next Saturday?
